Hermes Global Ventures Announces NEWDAWN SENTINEL™

An Executive Intelligence Foundation Assessment™ (EIFA™) designed to strengthen AI governance and support more informed and defensible executive decision-making.

LoAngeles, 7.23.2026 — Hermes Global Ventures today announced NEWDAWN SENTINEL™, an independent Executive Intelligence Foundation Assessment™ (EIFA™) developed to evaluate AI governance, organizational readiness, decision environments, and potential AI bias exposure.

Each NEWDAWN SENTINEL™ engagement culminates in an AI Bias & Executive Intelligence Report™, presenting executive findings, governance observations, identified areas of exposure, and prioritized executive recommendations.

As artificial intelligence becomes increasingly integrated into organizational decision-making, boards and executive leadership face growing expectations to demonstrate responsible oversight, governance maturity, and effective executive judgment.

"Artificial intelligence is changing the way organizations operate, but governance cannot remain static. NEWDAWN SENTINEL™ was created to help organizations establish a Dynamic Governance environment—one that evolves with AI rather than reacting to it.“

— Dominique Luchart, Chief Executive Officer, Hermes Global

Unlike technology implementations, NEWDAWN SENTINEL™ complements existing technologies without requiring system integration or access to member, customer, or sensitive operational data.

Hermes Global Ventures is currently accepting a limited number of organizations for inaugural NEWDAWN SENTINEL™ engagements.
